Mr. Moore,

Thank you for being so responsive. We get a number of these anonymous complaints regarding Fieldale. Since these are typically odor complaints and there is no one to follow up with additional questions, I leave it to your discretion on how you handle it. Thank you. I appreciate your time and cooperation.

Mr. Taylor,

I visited the facility indicated in the complaint and was unable to substantiate the complaint. Below is the write up my visit/communications with the facility. Please let me know if you have any questions.

I arrived to the front entrance of the facility at 10 a.m. There was a light breeze out of the south (~5 mph). I rolled my windows down and drove around the facility on the closest roads (145 -> Wolf Pit Rd. -> Turner Rd. -> 145), stopping in several locations to smell. I detected no noticeable odor at any point in my circuit.

I spoke with a pedestrian that said he lived in the area (on Turner Rd.) and asked if he had noticed any bad odor lately. He said that sometimes the chicken facility smells bad, but it was usually in the early mornings or late evenings. He did not express that there was ever really an overpowering/nauseous odor.

I pulled into the entry road of the facility (the facility is about 1/4 mile back from the road) and sat for a couple minutes but never smelled any foul odor. I tried to call the Fieldale environmental manager, Alex Sullivan, while sitting at the plant entrance, but he did not answer.

Mr. Sullivan called me back about 15 minutes after I left the facility. I let him know about the complaint and asked if he knew of any events at the facility that might have made the smell worse lately. He said he would check into it and call me back (he is not usually at the facility). Mr. Sullivan called me back after talking with the plant manager and waste water manager. He said that the only incident around the time of the complaint was that a pre-heater went down around 4 p.m. on March 10, and the process was running slower than usually, until it was fixed later that evening. He told me that the facility does try to do smellier operations (i.e. receiving a load of older product from out of town) during the very late/early hours of the day when most people are not outside. However, Mr. Sullivan said that the facility has only been running fresh product for the past week. He also mentioned that the facility has not been spraying waste water on their spray fields lately.

Based on my site visit and Mr. Sullivan's comments, I am unable to substantiate the complaint of "stench that literally causes eye and throat burning."

Thank you,

Thomas Moore

Reggie,

For the two anonymous complaints [FY17-149798 and FY17-148573], I should have link them to the two responses I sent on 10/28/2016 (see below). As stated in the responses below, we consider these ongoing odor complaints that are addressed periodically by the Georgia EPD. However, the facility is maintaining its compliance with its permit requirements.

Derrick Williams,

Hello. I am forwarding a complaint that my office received concerning the Fieldale Farms facility, located in Eastanolle, Georgia. This is actually one of two anonymous emails regarding the facility with the same complaint about noxious odors. Any assistance in investigating the odors from this facility is appreciated.

If you need to reach me, please use this email address or the contact information listed below.

Thanks.

Sincerely,

Kevin I. Taylor
